The OPAL A story

The fresh Australian paw paw used in our formulations undergoes an alkalisation process which stabilises and optimises the fruit's naturally occurring proteins and enzymes.

This process produces an extract known as OPAL A. Studies suggest when paw paw is exposed to the OPAL A process, a highly active form of the fruit is retained.

This extract shows anti-oxidant and anti-inflammatory properties as well as improved blood flow to the skin.

All these properties have the potential to improve and assist the skin's own natural healing process.

OPAL A is used in various concentrations in OptiDerma® and OnlyPapaya™ products.

It's all about OPAL A
